

dr hab. Urszula Myga-Piątek, prof. UŚ

Urszula Myga-Piątek, professor at the University of Silesia. Geographer, specializing in the issues of the cultural landscape, geography of culture, geography of tourism. She connected her academic career with the University of Silesia.

The most significant Polish publications include the following monographs: Krajobraz kulturowy. Aspekty ewolucyjne i typologiczne (2012) i Studia nad regionalizacją fizycznogeograficzną Polski (2018). Author of over a hundred articles published in renowned international scientific journals. Since 2020, she has been the President of the Main Board of the Polish Geographical Society. She is a member of the Geographical Sciences Committee of the Polish Academy of Sciences; SILGIS Society, the Main Town Planning and Architecture Commission at the Ministry of Development; Provincial Urban Planning and Architecture Commission at the Marshal of the Silesian Voivodeship and vice-chairwoman of the Cultural Landscape Committee of the Polish Geological Society. She is the editor-in-chief of the journal Prace Komisji Krajobrazu Kulturowego (Dissertation of Cultural Landscape Commission). Since 2016, she has been the vice-dean at the Faculty of Natural Sciences, University of Silesia. In 2016-2020, she was the head of the Department of Regional Geography and Tourism. Currently, she is the leader of the Landscape Research Team at the Institute of Earth Sciences, University of Silesia (<https://us.edu.pl/institut/inoz/badania/zespoly-badawcze/>). She participated in foreign internships in Strasbourg, Zagreb, and Czerniowcach. Since 2000, she has been cooperating in the organization of Polish-Croatian GIS Odyssey and GIS Silesia conferences.

The full achievements can be found on the websites:

https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Urszula_Myga-Piatek2

<https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=BBfYndo4hwwC&hl=pl>